High school is behind you now. The exhilaration and depression of leaving home foreshadow the ups and downs of your new life at Ole Miss. And it all happens in a small city in north Mississippi called Oxford.

Many find friends in a demanding week of rush, while others develop relationships in less formal settings. An important aspect of learning begins before classes do.

Ole Miss students are fortunate because summer lasts well into September and warm spring days appear (usually) around Easter time.

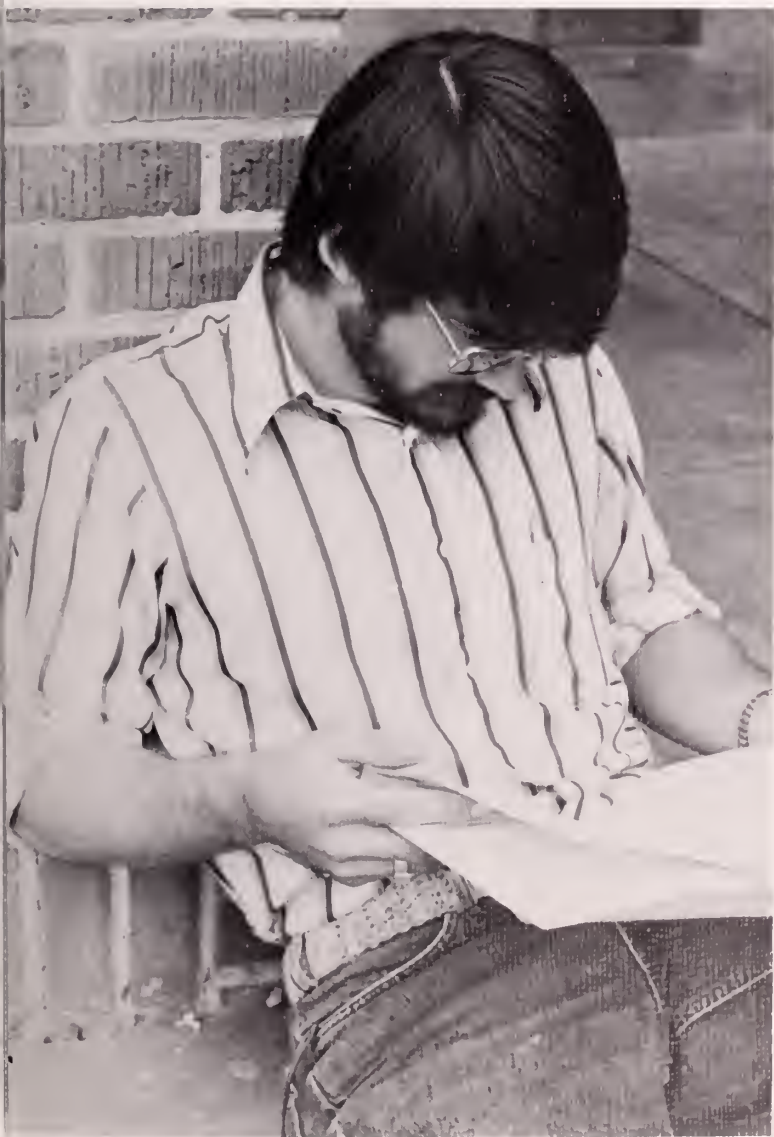

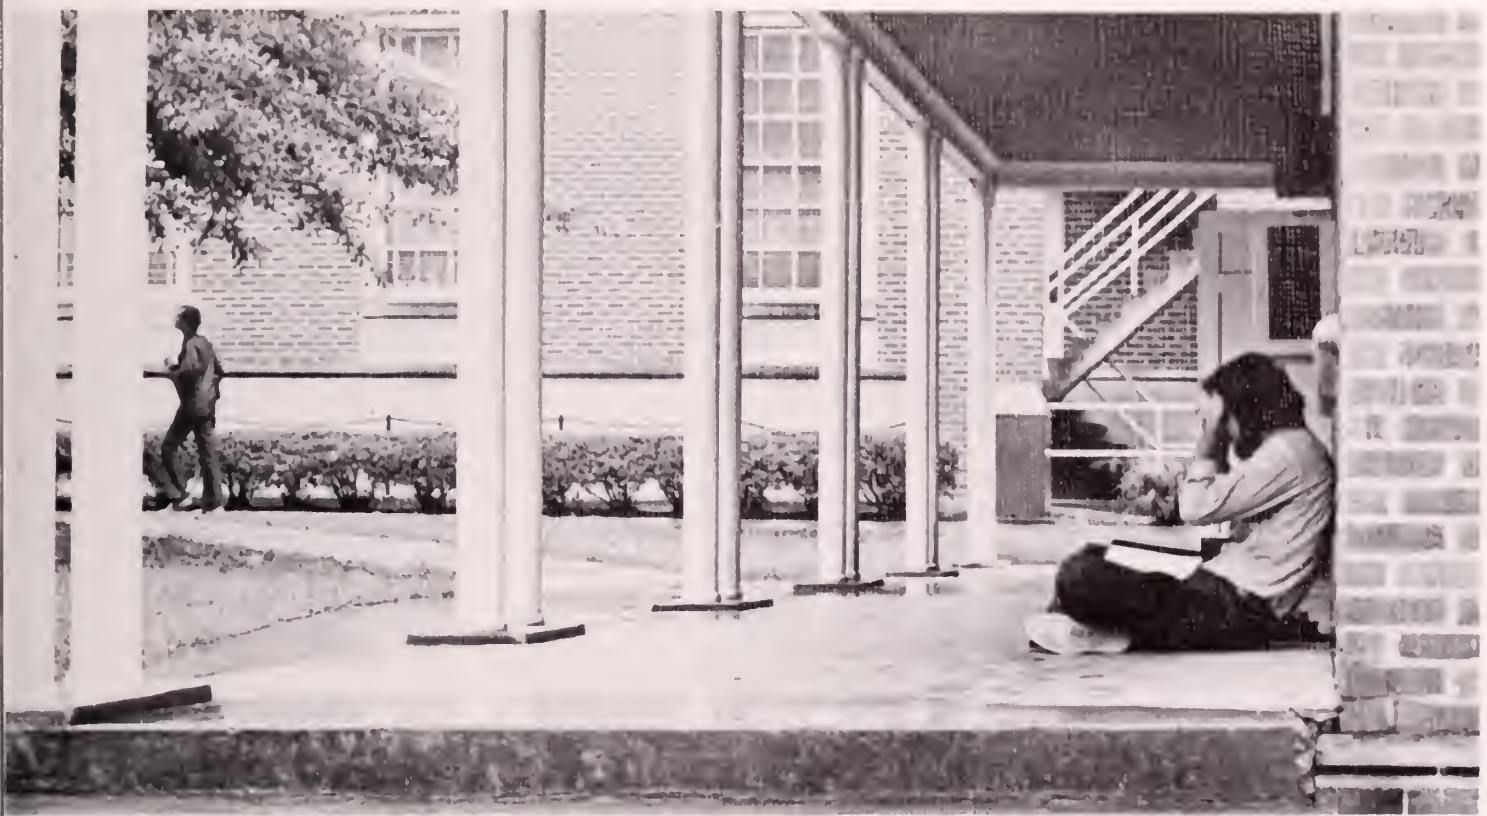

The size and setting of the campus allow students short, pleasant walks to class. The open spaces of nearby Sardis Reservoir attract many students with leisure time.

Classes begin, and everyone is involved with the process of education. Like threads in a fabric, each person is interwoven into the complex mesh that is a university.

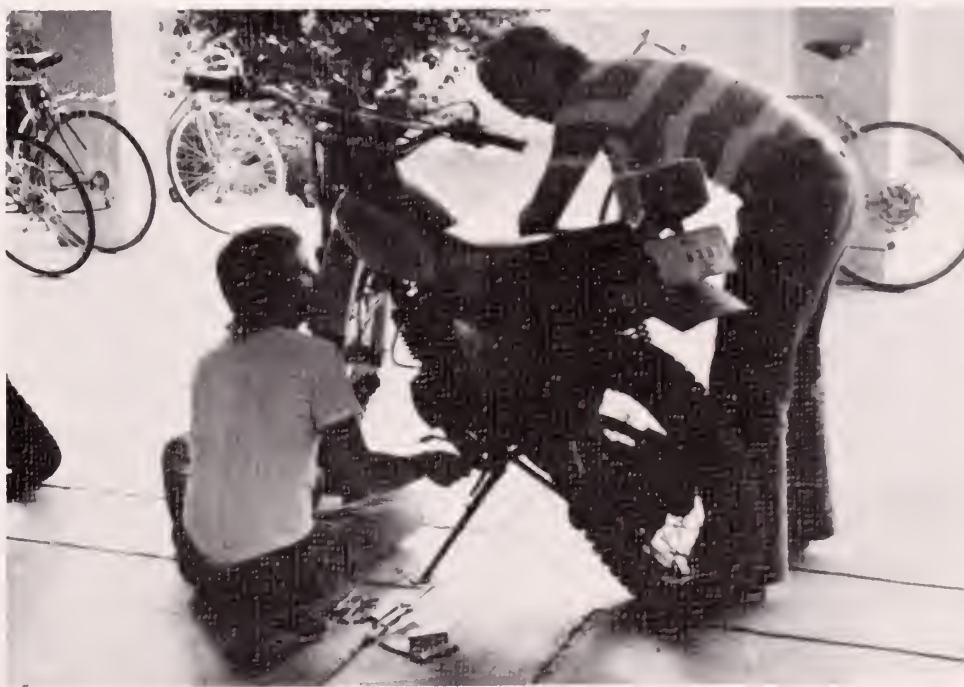

Ole Miss is engaged in a constant process of revitalization as old structures are razed and new ones are erected. In its role as the leading educational institution of Mississippi, the university continues to respond to the pressures of change.

Students continue to experiment with various modes of transportation. Each displays its own conveniences and pleasures.

Diversions come in many forms. The important thing is to enjoy your free time while you can.

Important discoveries occur in the silence of solitude.

Sometimes the day seems a series of delays. It doesn't take long to get used to the inevitable minor frustrations of university life.

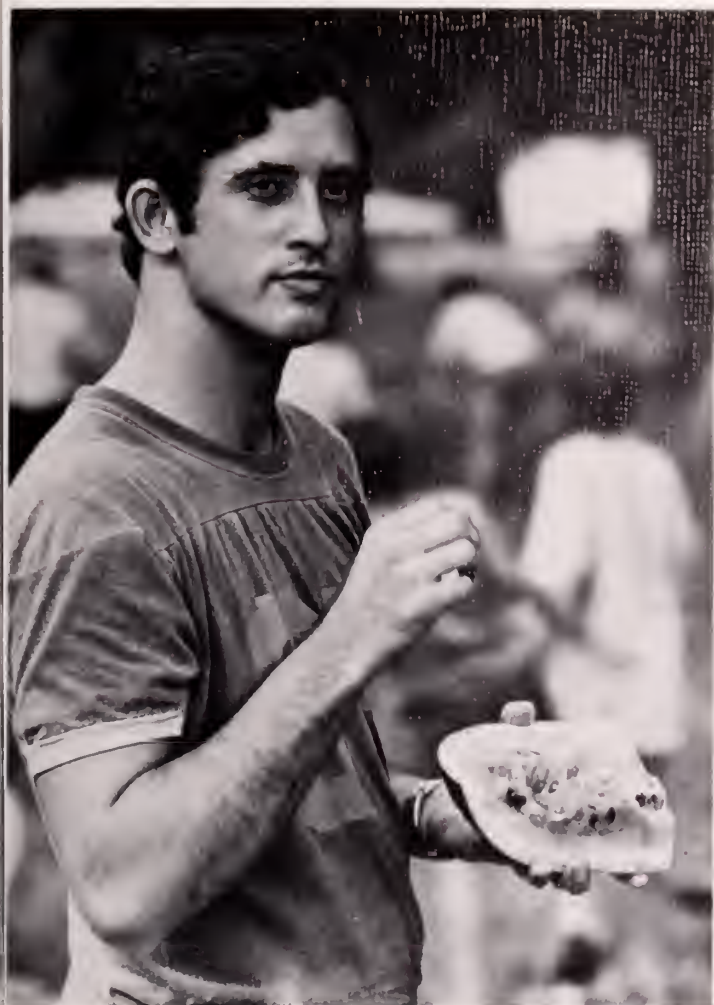

Occasionally pressures threaten to end the game. At such times, when your two term papers are due and you've just discovered that all your exams will be comprehensive, you wonder if it's really worth it.

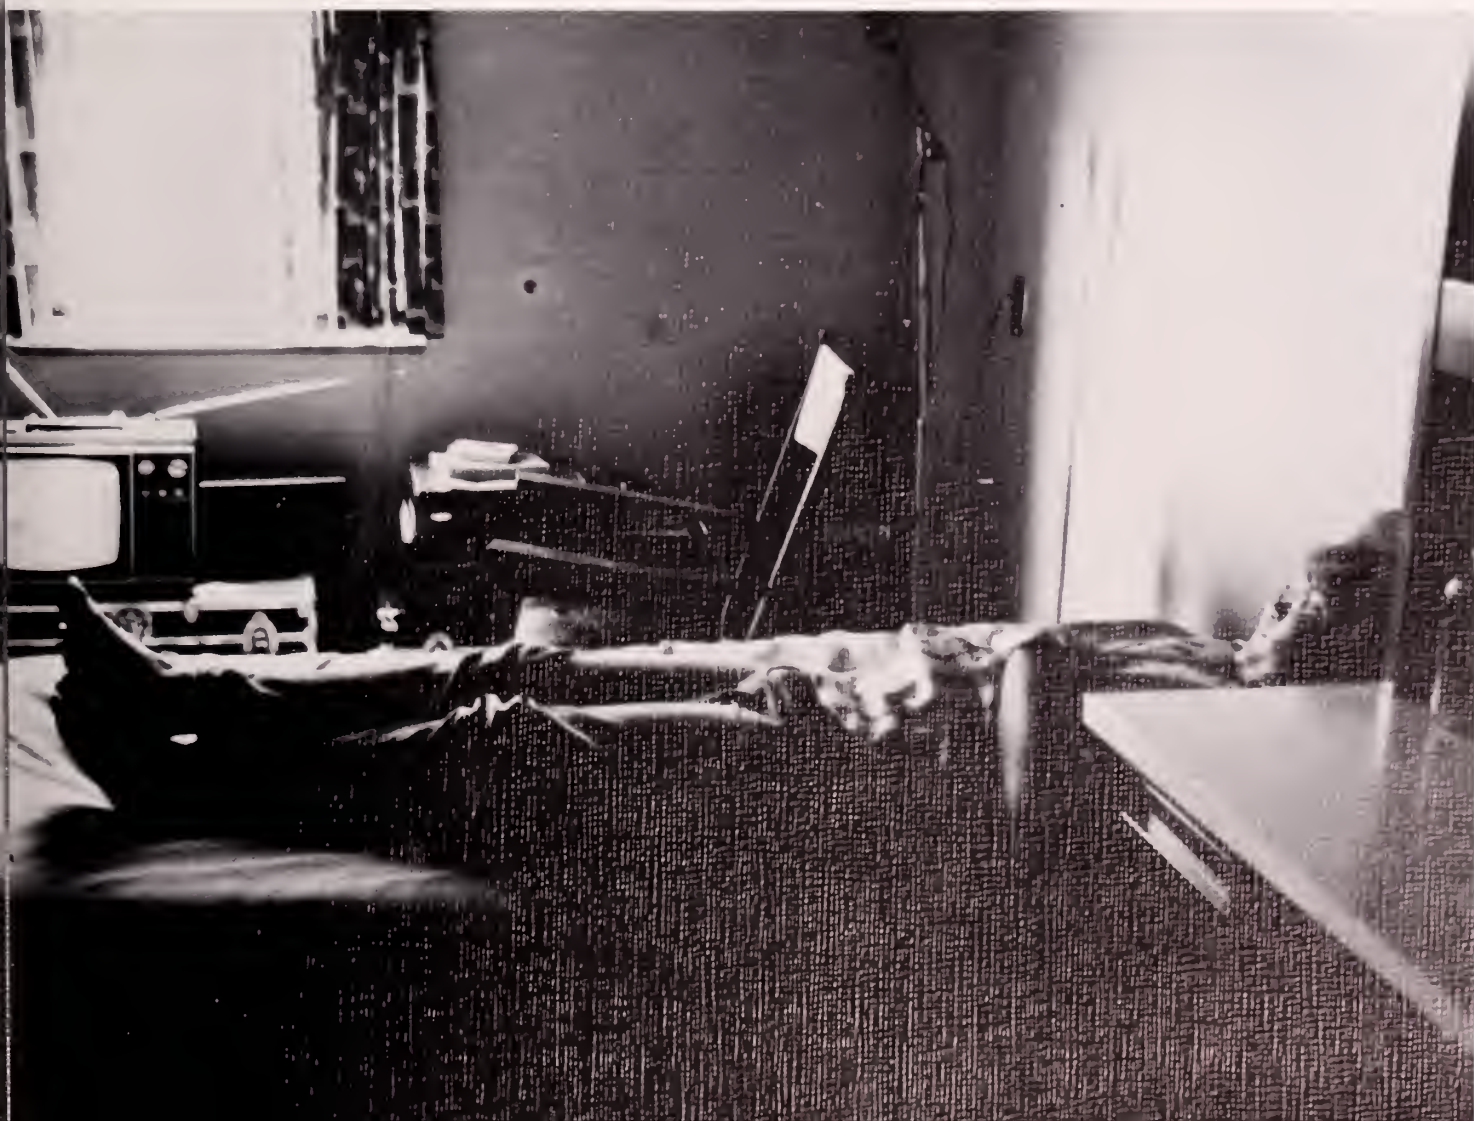

America In Concert

There are planned activities for those who enjoy them, and you can always get together with a few friends.

If you can't find enough to do in Oxford, you can always leave for the weekend.

Ole Miss continues to engender an aura of Rebel loyalty.

For thousands of fans, the color and excitement of football is an important aspect of university tradition.

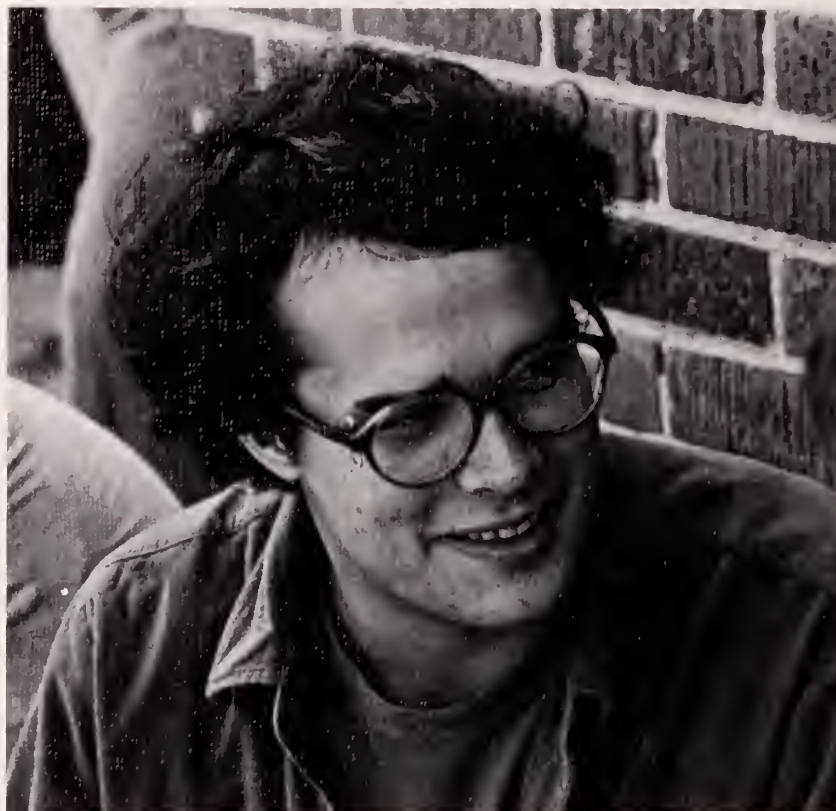

Cheerleaders and fans blend in the frenzy of motion that is Ole Miss spirit.

The campus offers a variety of contemplative settings for work.

The lighter sides of days are filled with smiles.

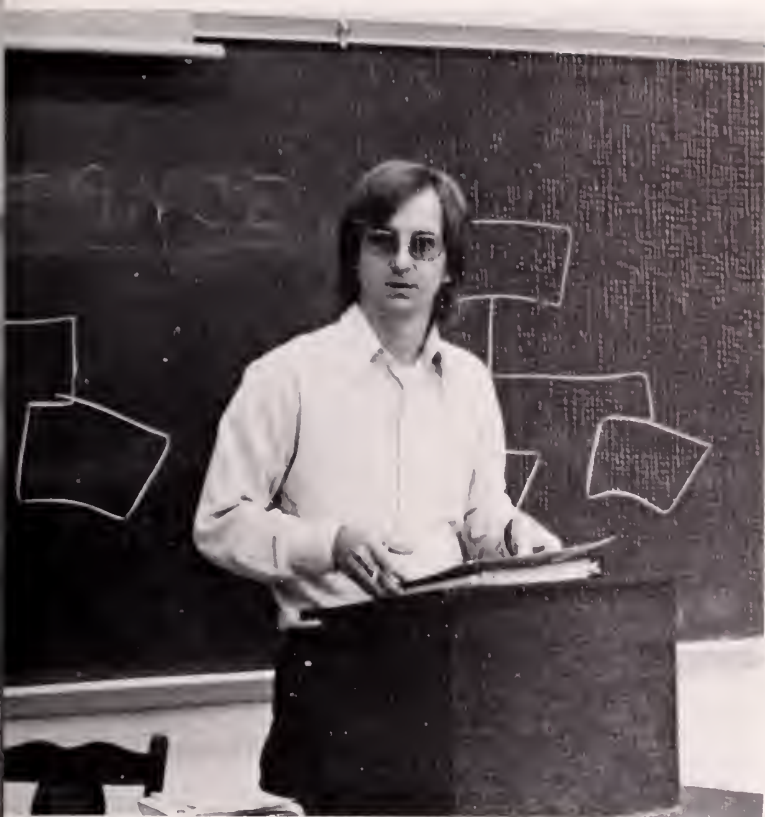

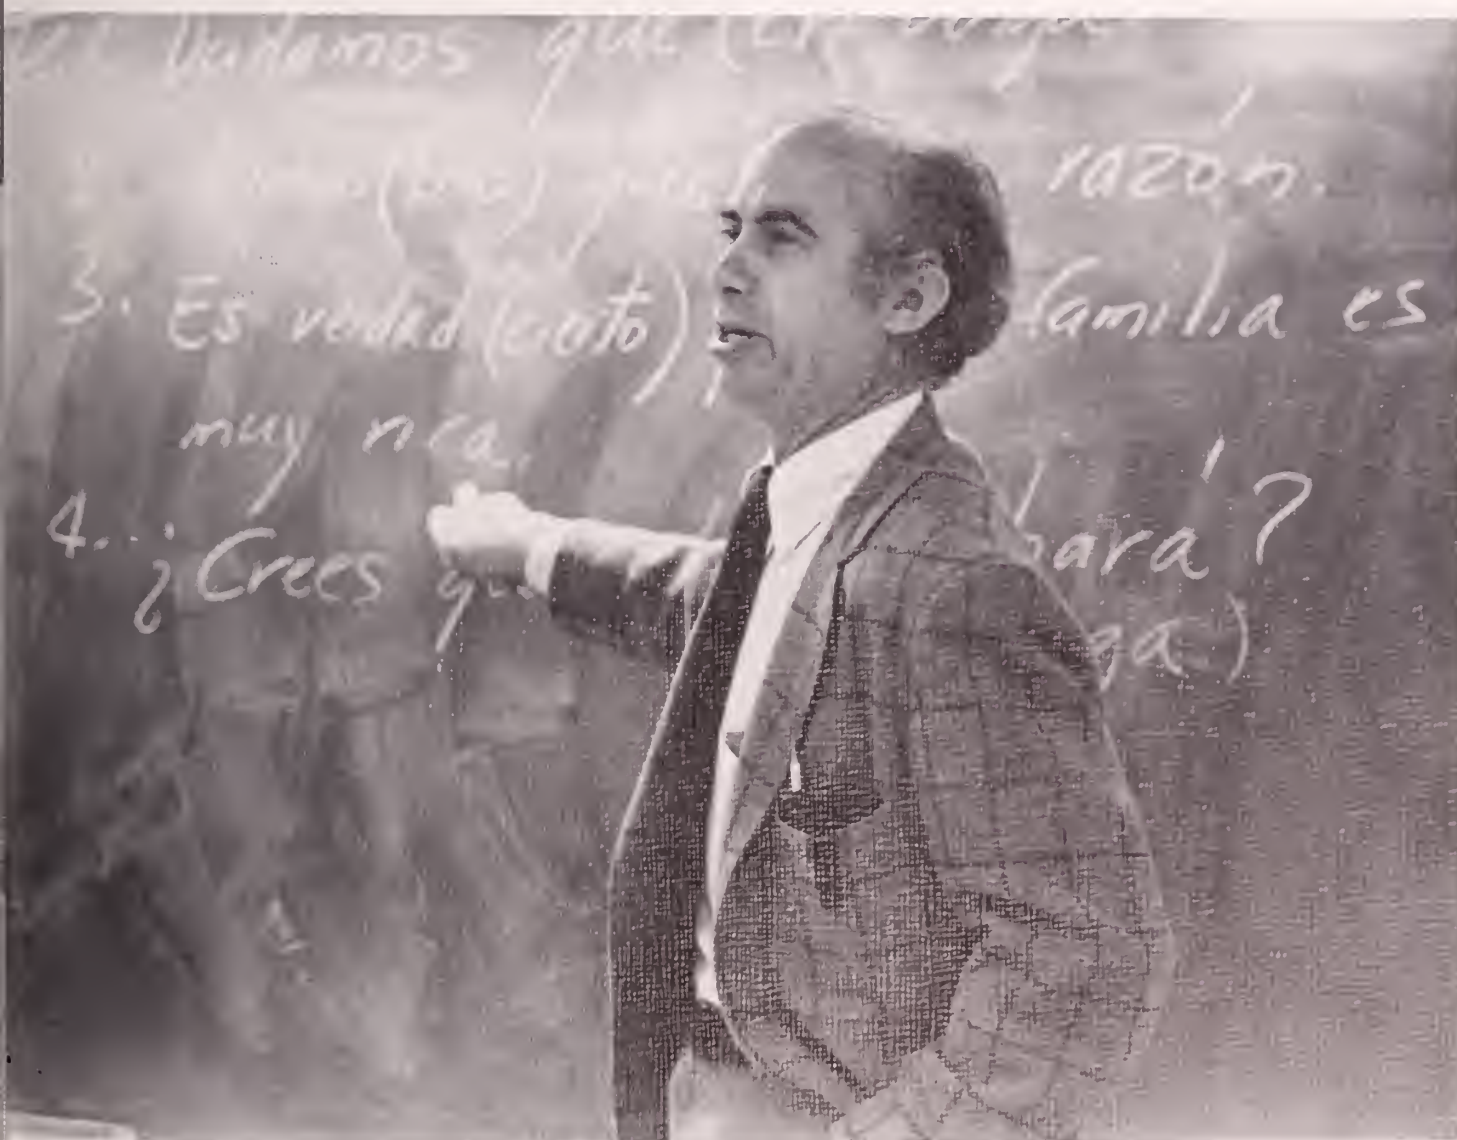

Each individual brings to the university his own outlooks and expectations. These are imperceptibly altered in the course of a college career, but each revision is part of the process which leads to enlightenment.

The classroom provides students and faculty a forum for the exchange of information and ideas.

For many the feeling that school has begun comes with falling leaves and crisp afternoons. Autumn breathes a recurring nostalgia into memories of Ole Miss like a cool wind rustling through the grove.

Ole Miss elections, like all political campaigns, involve lots of hard work and sometimes a little imagination. Last minute efforts include friendly smiles and rain-soaked signs.

Homecoming Queen Debby Dr.

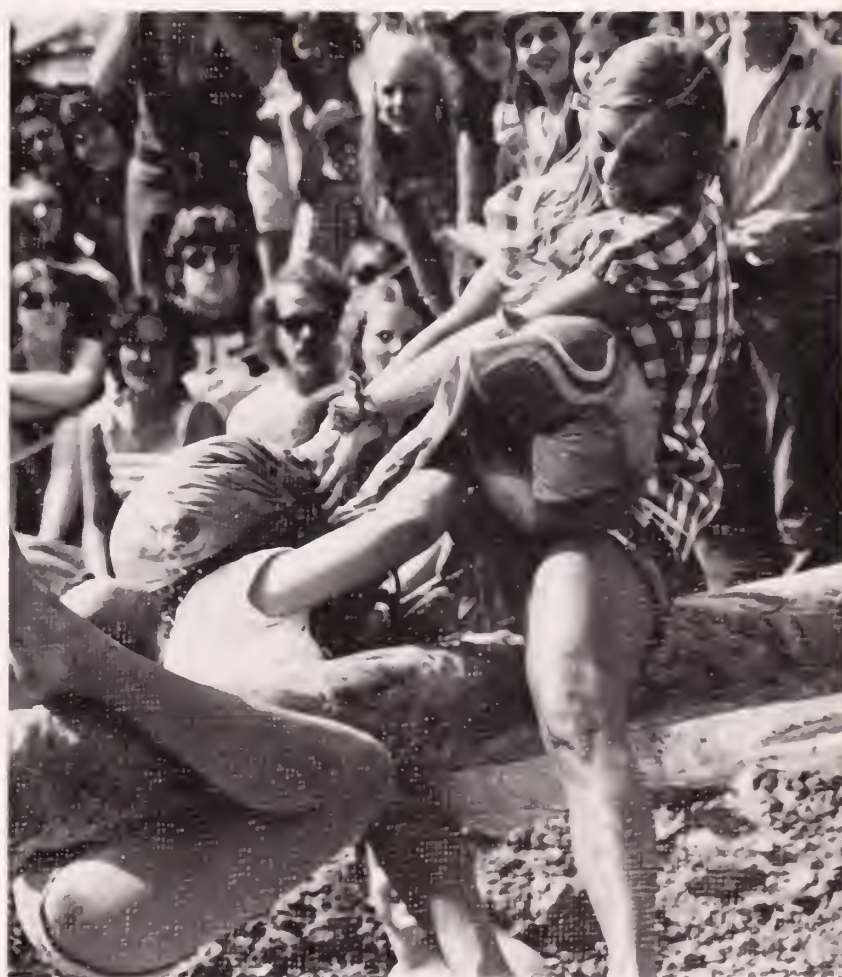

Derby Day Queen Bridget Westover

The uninhibited competition of Sigma Chi Derby Day becomes a festival of mud and madness.

College activities not only provide a workshop for self-improvement but also promote cooperation as a means of realizing group potential.

Ole Miss offers the training and practice that lead to occupations and the fulfillment of security. For a rare few, college is an experience of fulfillment itself.

There are people, places and events at Ole Miss that we expect to recall vividly, but by graduation time, most are already beginning to drift out of focus into a déjà-vu of remembrance.

Honors

Omicron Delta Kappa

Omicron Delta Kappa is a national leadership honor society for college men. It was founded in 1914 at Washington and Lee University to recognize and encourage the achievement of exemplary character and superior quality in scholarship and leadership. It is unique among the honor societies in that student members are chosen not only for scholastic achievement but also for their leadership contributions to the University community. There are five primary areas of interest utilized by Omicron Delta Kappa to evaluate prospective members: scholarship, athletics, speech and theatre, social and student government. Membership in Omicron Delta Kappa is a mark of highest distinction and honor.

Alpha Lambda Delta

Alpha Lambda Delta is a national honor society which recognizes high scholastic achievement among freshman women. The Constitution of the society states that the purpose of the society is "to promote intelligent living and a high standard of learning and to encourage superior scholastic attainment among freshman women in all colleges and universities."

Alpha Lambda Delta, founded in 1924 at the University of Illinois, has over 200 chapters. The Ole Miss chapter was founded in May 16, 1930, making it one of the oldest chapters.

In order to be eligible for membership in the society, a student must attain a 3.5 grade point average after her first semester or as a combined average of her first and second freshman semesters.

Chi Epsilon

Chi Epsilon is a national honorary fraternity of Civil Engineers founded at the University of Illinois on May 20, 1922. The fraternity was organized to recognize the characteristics in an individual that are fundamental to the pursuit of an engineering career and help develop these in the Civil Engineering students. The fourteenth chapter was founded at the University of Mississippi in 1937.

Pi Mu Epsilon

Founded at Syracuse University in 1914, Pi Mu Epsilon's purpose is the promotion of scholarly activity in mathematics and by engaging in activities designed to promote the mathematical and scholarly development of its members.

To qualify for election into membership, an undergraduate must have a 3.0 average in two years of calculus and be in the top third of his class; or as a sophomore a 4.0 average through three semesters of calculus and in the top quarter of his class.

Kappa Omicron Phi

The purpose of Kappa Omicron Phi is to further the best interests of Home Economics by recognizing and encouraging scholastic excellence, developing leadership abilities, fostering professional activities and interests, and promoting fellowship among staff and students of the profession.

Members are chosen on a basis of scholarship, leadership potential, and personality. A grade point requirement of 3.0 overall and 3.0 in all Home Economics courses determines members.

Phi Eta Sigma

Phi Eta Sigma's first chapter was founded at the University of Illinois on March 22, 1923 for the sole purpose of encouraging high scholastic attainment among freshman men in institutions of higher learning. In seeking to fulfill this purpose to the highest degree, Phi Eta Sigma chapters sponsor a variety of activities which will hopefully be of benefit to the academic population on their respective campuses.

All Freshman men who earn a 3.5 or better grade point average in their initial semester of academic work or attain an average of 3.5 or better during both semesters of their freshman enrollment are automatically eligible for membership.

Rho Chi

Rho Chi seeks to promote scholarly fellowship in pharmacy by bringing undergraduate and graduate students, members and faculty members together in fraternal and helpful association. Regular chapter meetings emphasize the professional aspects of pharmacy and point the way to instructive study and research. Members are elected to Rho Chi on the basis of scholarship and the capacity for achievement in the science of pharmacy.

Tau Beta Pi

The Tau Beta Pi Association, national engineering honor society, was founded at Lehigh University in 1885. The purpose of Tau Beta Pi is to recognize outstanding students in engineering. The Association also encourages a broad engineering education and attempts to stimulate the interest of all engineers in non-technical fields, in civic responsibility and in other related areas. Juniors in the top one-eighth and seniors in the top fifth of their class are eligible for membership.

Phi Kappa Phi

The honor society of Phi Kappa Phi was founded in 1897. Originating with a group of students who felt the need of recognizing scholarship in all disciplines, it was soon transformed into a national society by a committee composed of the presidents of the University of Maine, the University of Tennessee, and Pennsylvania State College. The University of Mississippi chapter of Phi Kappa Phi was chartered in May, 1959.

To be elected to membership, an undergraduate student must be a senior or a second semester junior having an overall scholastic average of not less than 3.7 for juniors and 3.5 for seniors. Graduate students and students in professional schools must have distinguished records placing them among the top few in their classes.

Faculty and staff members invited to membership must have made a significant contribution to their discipline.

Mortar Board

Mortar Board is the first and only national organization honoring senior college women. Tassels, the local chapter, was founded in 1936. Membership signifies honor, offers challenge, and represents commitment. Challenge is the incentive of the group to concern itself in the campus and in the community.

The basis of Mortar Board is the commitment to extend the ideals of scholarship, leadership, and service beyond its borders to establish a broader community.

Honor is represented in each member elected into Mortar Board every year.

Selection is based on leadership, scholarship, and service.

School of Business Administration

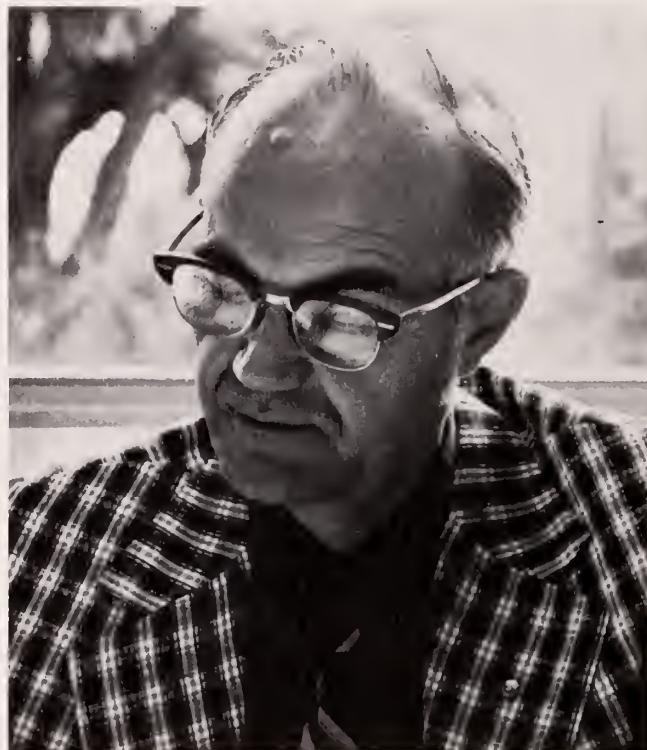

Dean McNew

With rapid inflation underway, how can Man protect himself and at the same time make a meaningful contribution to society? What will be the result of increasing U.S. reliance on foreign resources when they are scarce and subject to political-economic manipulation? How, in fact, can Man survive that inevitable day of reckoning in economics, in the environment, and in politics? Such questions aren't susceptible of easy answers, but they come up again and again in business school courses. Obviously, specialized knowledge in administration, business, and economics is needed to deal with these and similar questions; but a broad education is also needed and it involves knowledge of geopolitics, mathematics, and science. Keeping that in mind, the School of Business Administration has designed its curricula responsive to changing needs.

Bennie M. McNew

Dean, School of Business Administration

Dean Moorhead

How to become a better "people developer" — little people, young people, grown people — is hopefully the major product offered by the School of Education. Perhaps the most important of all learnings is learning how to learn; such a thrust should be characteristic of professional education. At the undergraduate level the School of Education prepares persons for a variety of teaching roles, and at the graduate level offers numerous advanced programs for teachers and educational service personnel for the school and community. In addition, the specialized activities in research and service are made available to the educational agencies of the state and nation.

In the late 1960's, there was considerable publicity regarding unemployed engineers. These engineers were unemployed for basically two reasons — either they were too narrowly educated and could not adjust to the changes of the times or they chose to live in one part of the country where industry was temporarily depressed.

This unemployment, because of narrowness of education, emphasizes the correctness of the policy of the Engineering School at the University of Mississippi which believes in an education that is fundamentally strong and liberal in breadth. With emphasis on energy, material shortages, and environment, the opportunities for the University of Mississippi educated engineer are greater than they have ever been before.

Karl Brenkert
Dean, School of Engineering

Dean Sam

The Graduate School serves the University through research, the teaching of advanced studies, and the participation in service projects on the local and national level. Innovations of the past year include the addition of new areas of study in the Master's, Doctor of Arts, and Specialist degree programs. At present the University of Mississippi provides opportunities leading to 54 Master's, 4 Specialist, 6 Doctor of Education, a Doctor of the Science of Law, 23 Doctor of Philosophy, and 4 Doctor of Arts degrees. In all programs, both on — and off — campus, the Graduate School endeavors to provide broader possibilities for all who are interested in advanced education. While seeking this objective the Graduate School strives constantly to preserve the quality of research and academic achievements.

School of Law

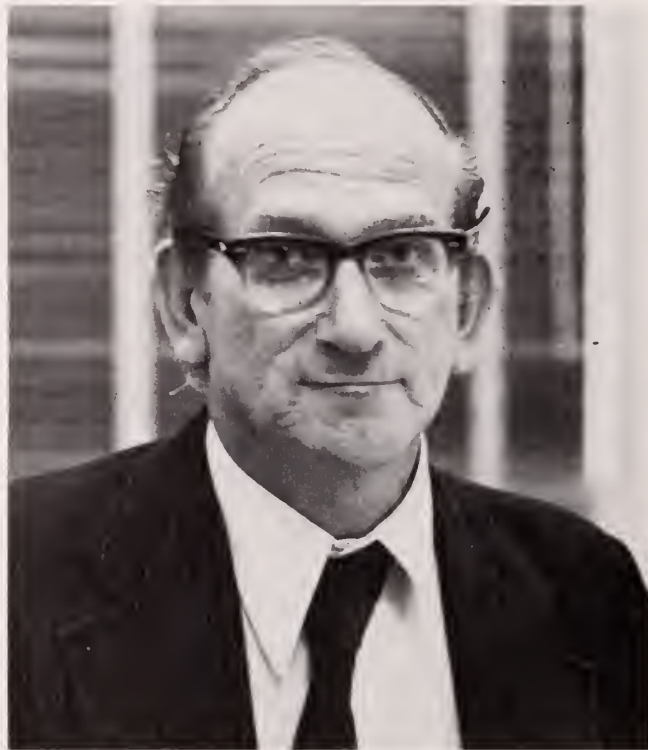

Dean Williams

The School of Law, created by act of the Legislature in 1854, is the fourth oldest state-supported law school in the United States. Through the years the graduates of the school have assumed leadership positions in government and business, both nationally and locally.

With an annual enrollment of six hundred and a full-time faculty of twenty-three, the law school offers a broad variety of courses and programs designed to prepare its students for the practice of law in Mississippi. Traditional classroom courses are complemented by trial practice, moot court, and internships, thereby giving the student an opportunity to apply legal theories in a practical setting. Graduates of the School are admitted to the Bar in Mississippi without further examination.

A world of crises and challenges calls for exceptional men and women. Liberal Arts education can produce these people. A flexible curriculum, a taste of many fields, a working knowledge in one or more, allow a student to adjust to a world of continuing crisis, while meeting challenges realistically. In a world of pragmatism and relevancy a liberal arts education can be for everyone.

Dean Nelson

This nation has agreed that all Americans have a right to accessible, acceptable quality medical care at reasonable cost and surely this is a valid ambition for the Mississippi citizenry. The central issue in achieving this overriding goal is provision of a health manpower pool of sufficient size and training to meet increasing demands for health services. This is the University of Mississippi School of Medicine's first concern. Education of the physician component of the healthy care team is its clear mandate. To move positively toward a solution to health care needs, the school has increased its entering class each year for six consecutive years beginning with a five-student increment in 1969 when 90 freshmen were accepted. In 1974, a 28-student increase jumped the total to 150. All other schools at the Medical Center continue to grow at a comparable rate. Primary and specialty medical care are coming within the grasp of all Mississippians.

Dean Guess

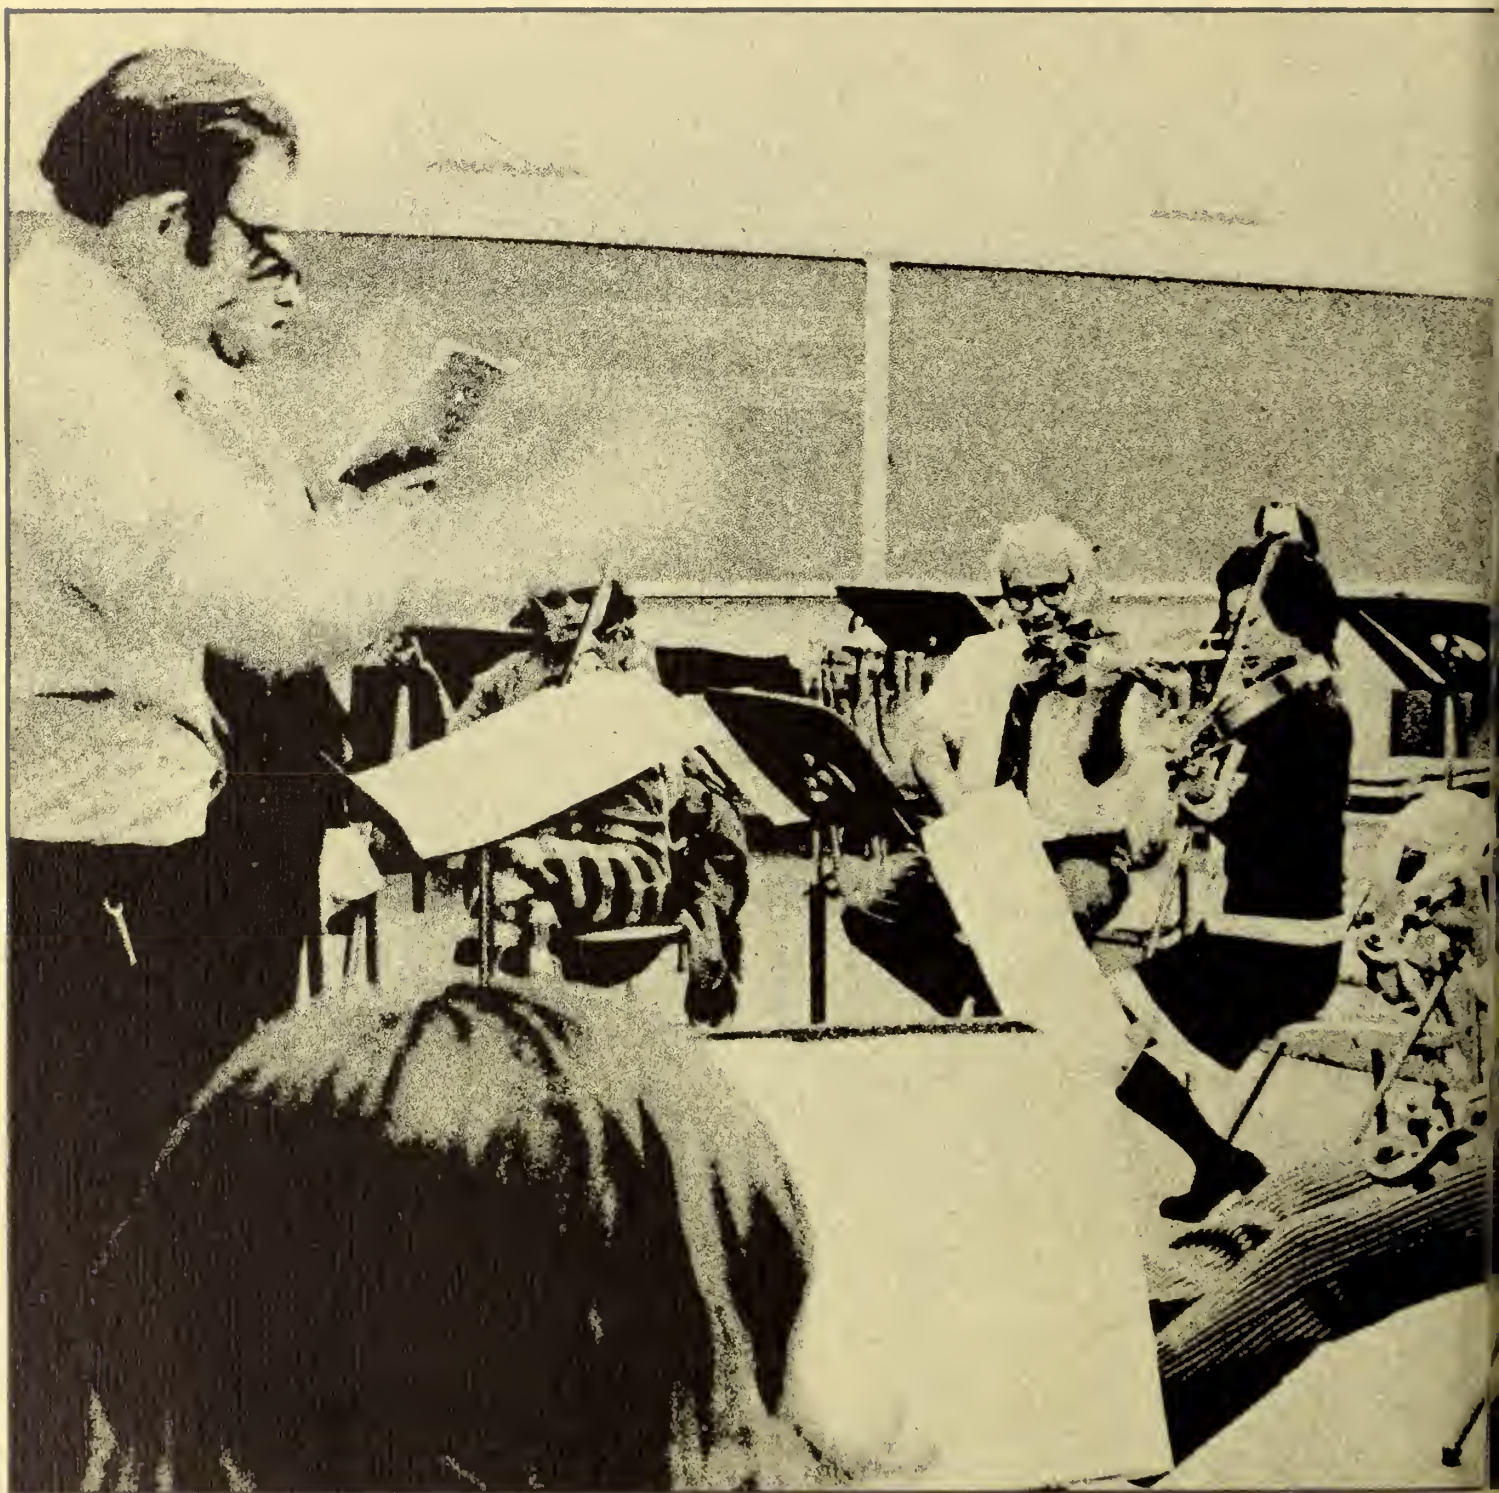

I am frequently asked what makes the Ole Miss School of Pharmacy one of the best in the United States. I believe an answer can be found in the dedication of our faculty to the undergraduate student. The primary reason for the existence of the School of Pharmacy at Ole Miss is to teach — that is, the education of future pharmacists for Mississippi. It is a fact that research is also a part of our school, but we never forget that the reason we are here is that the student is here.

ASCE

The purposes of the Student Chapter of the American Society of Civil Engineers are to develop the beginning student's interest in Civil Engineering, to create the student's understanding of the aspects of Civil Engineering, and to direct the graduating seniors to their profession and to their specific interests.

The socially orientated activities of the chapter include such events as participation in Engineering Day, joint meetings with the other technical societies in the School of Engineering, and speeches before high school and junior high school students about engineering. The student chapter of ASCE also holds elections every year to elect new officers. In turn, these activities of the chapter are reviewed annually by the National Society.

AWS

The challenging problems and opportunities facing women students are dealt with by the AWS. During AWS Women's Week, students are given the opportunity to discuss subjects of vital importance with outstanding career women.

Through the AWS, students have obtained color televisions and vacuum cleaners in the dorms. The organization, cooperating with the Associated Student Body, provides services for women students which hopefully will be beneficial and meaningful. Rules and regulations governing women students are determined through the Women's Judicial Council.

Changing with the needs and problems of students, the AWS will be valuable to women at Ole Miss and in later life.

Beta Lambda Epsilon

The objectives of Beta Lambda Epsilon are to associate persons who are actively engaged in collegiate preparation and/or professional police service; to keep abreast of the advances in scientific research; to evaluate the ethical standards of police service; and to establish in the public mind the benefit and necessity of professional police training. All interested law enforcement majors and minors with an overall grade point average of 2.0 are eligible to join.

Angel Flight

Angel Flight strives to increase leadership qualities in young college women, to serve those less fortunate in the community, and to help with any campus activity. New pledges are chosen at the close of the fall semester. Each sorority or dormitory nominates five girls who come before a panel of the Air Force commander and Executive Officer, Arnold Air Commander, Corps Commander, Captain Drummond and Colonel Wakefield. Ten girls are chosen on the basis of poise, personality, interest in Angel Flight and the Air Force, GPA, and beauty of face and figure. Angel Flight sponsors the Boy Scout Troop at the Mental Retardation Center. Other community activities include the Blood Drive, High School Day, and various service collections.

Ole Miss Democrats

Some college political party organizations are nothing more than social groups. They just aren't interested in the political issues facing young Americans today. As party groups, they desire nothing, aspire nothing, and achieve nothing. Are these the political leaders of the future? The Ole Miss Democrats certainly hope not. The Ole Miss Democrats have an expressed, avowed interest in the issues as is stated in our purpose. Don Odom, President of the organization for 1974-1975, perhaps said it best: "The purpose of the Ole Miss Democrats, as with any truly 'democratic' organization, is to provide an open forum for individuals of differing political persuasions to meet and discuss those issues that divide them. We strive to facilitate a friendly exchange of opinion, and hopefully through an exchange of opinion . . . change opinion."

Under the dynamic leadership of Don Odom, President; Cullen Clark, Vice-President; Penny Schilling, Secretary; and Bo Jackson, Treasurer, and with the continued support of the state and national Democratic parties, great things will happen. Already, things are shaping up. We have been approved for representation at the National Democratic Mini-Convention in Kansas City this December. We were the first college democratic group in the nation to receive this honor. The Ole Miss Democrats Speakers' Forum presented James Meredith, Cliff Finch, A. F. Summer, Ray Ashley, Hodding Carter, and Aaron Henry to the student body this year. Also Ole Miss was selected as the site of the 1975 Young Democrats State Convention featuring a United States Senator.

Fraternity Intramural Council

The Fraternity Intramural Council, composed of a delegate from each of the eighteen fraternities on campus, serves to coordinate the fraternity intramural sports program with the overall program. Competition is organized in football, basketball, softball, volleyball, bowling, golf, tennis, ping pong, swimming, arm wrestling, and soccer. The Council keeps standings and accumulates points. Trophies are awarded to the champion in each sport and an overall trophy is awarded to the fraternity accumulating the most points during the year.

Air Force ROTC

High Flight

By John Gillespie Magee, Jr.

Oh, I have slipped the surly bonds of earth
 And danced the skies on laughter-silvered wings;
 Sunward I've climbed, and joined the tumbling mirth of sun-split clouds — and done a hundred things
 You have not dreamed of — wheeled and soared and swung
 High in the sunlit silence. Hov'ring there,
 I've chased the shouting wind along, and flung
 My eager craft through footless halls of air.
 Up, up the long, delirious, burning blue
 I've topped the windswept heights with easy grace
 Where never lark, or even eagle flew.
 And, while with silent, lifting mind I've trod
 The high untrespassed sanctity of space,
 Put out my hand, and touched the face of God.

John Vaught

Ole Miss Interview

Perhaps no other person is more closely associated with Ole Miss football than John Vaught. During his years as head coach at Ole Miss Vaught established the Rebels as a national football power. Vaught skillfully guided the Rebels to six Southeastern Conference championships, one national championship and eighteen post-season bowl appearances. Vaught is still actively involved in Ole Miss athletics. As Athletic Director Vaught oversees the activities of all intercollegiate sports at the University of Mississippi. Ole Miss Sports Editor John Haile conducted the following interview in Vaught's office on January 27, 1975.

INTERVIEWER: Coach Vaught, how do you compare the duties of head coach and athletic director?

VAUGHT: There's really not much comparison. This job of athletic director is one of overlooking and directing all sports here at the university. Of course, with football I was concerned only with football. There was a little bit more glamour and excitement in coaching football and working with the young people, which I enjoyed very much. This job is more of a detailed sort of affair — concerned not only with the business of intercollegiate sports, but also with the financial aspect of it. That's where the rub comes.

INTERVIEWER: Speaking of finances, the athletic department has come under criticism from students and concerned individuals who feel that too much university money has been poured into the sports program. How do you feel about this?

VAUGHT: Actually, I really think that is a misconception. The athletic director gets very, very little help from the university. We basically are an independent organization and our operations depend on our own revenue. We have gotten a little bit of money from certain concessions on campus, but that is a very small amount.

INTERVIEWER: Is it safe to say that the money comes from alums and bowl game receipts?

VAUGHT: Our money is coming right now from our gate receipts which includes TV appearances, through the Loyalty Foundation, and, of course, bowl games. And let's hope we have a lot more bowl games.

INTERVIEWER: How about the new athletic dorm?

VAUGHT: As far as construction is concerned, it's coming along right well. I don't believe we will be in it by summer, which means as far as the football team is concerned, it will be next fall before they can utilize the facility.

INTERVIEWER: Has the cost of the dorm exceeded previous estimates?

VAUGHT: Well, we knew exactly what it was going to cost when we contracted for it — yet, it is a concern. It's our responsibility now to fund this thing and we are really going to have to be conservative in our organization to fund this dormitory.

INTERVIEWER: Will all Ole Miss athletes be able to live in the dorm?

VAUGHT: Actually, this dormitory will house 256 people. Since we contracted for this space, we've had a cut-back of scholarship athletes. I believe we will have 150 total athletes on scholarship which means we'll have 90 to 100 extra beds. We're hoping to have some students occupy this space.

INTERVIEWER: I don't guess woman athletes will be allowed to live in the dorm?

VAUGHT: I don't believe we've quite gotten to that, yet.

INTERVIEWER: Coach Vaught, past Ole Miss teams, and most notably your squads, have been known for an open, explosive offense. This past year, the Rebs seemed to run a more deliberate, controlled offense. Do you foresee a return to a highly geared offensive attack?

VAUGHT: Well, I really do. This was a new year for Coach Cooper and overall he did a real fine job. We did not have a good football year as far as games won and lost and to me, there is a definite explanation for what happened there. Comparatively speaking, we were real short of personnel. We had a couple of years of bad recruiting, one extremely bad.

INTERVIEWER: During the Kinard reign?

VAUGHT: Yes, that's true. Your sophomore contingent is supposed to be your biggest group of players on your roster. We had only two sophomores and they got hurt and were not playing. Basically, our team was made up of juniors and freshmen. In fact, we had 13 freshmen at one point during the year. I've got to feel we had a good recruiting program two years ago and this fall. Combine these two with our juniors and we should do all right.

INTERVIEWER: So you think that if we get the personnel, Ole Miss football will return to respectability?

VAUGHT: I've always thought that everybody has to do what he can do. I don't think you can run any particular kind of offense without suiting it to the players you've got. I think we'll have a good open style of offense in the future.

INTERVIEWER: Do you think the institution of private schools in Mississippi has hurt the quality of athletes in the state?

VAUGHT: I don't think there's any doubt that the quantity of athletes in the state has gone down. I'm not exactly sure what the reason is. I believe the Academy organization has taken away some from the competitive football we had in the past in public schools. I don't think there is any doubt about this. They are not getting the training and coaching in the academies that they're getting in the public schools.

INTERVIEWER: The competition is . . .

VAUGHT: Not as good.

INTERVIEWER: What about blacks in Ole Miss athletics?

VAUGHT: Well, actually, I think we are most fortunate here to have the caliber of black athletes that we have. I didn't have much association with black athletes until I came back last year at the end of the season. And we had four real fine blacks on the football team and they contributed a great deal. We still have those same four with us with a few others. They are all high caliber men and athletes who contribute greatly to our program.

INTERVIEWER: Coach, could you tell us something about the new coaching staff?

VAUGHT: I can't tell you about them — the choice of the coaching staff is up to the head coach. His selection is approved by me and the athletic committee.

INTERVIEWER: Are women's athletics directly involved with the UMAA?

VAUGHT: The women's athletic program, as such, is not in our intercollegiate program. They are part of the Public and Physical Education program of the university. We are definitely very much interested in the program. We will do everything we can to enhance its growth. We offer all of our facilities and in some cases we offer some financial help.

INTERVIEWER: Are there any plans to reinstitute the track program?

VAUGHT: What we're going to do — one of the new coaches will be handling track, as it stands, there are no scholarships for track but we would like to have a track program made up of the athletes we have in the other sports together with the students. We're all very much in favor of track, we like track, but let's face it, in this critical financial period we're in we've got to cut back many of the sports or some of the sports. And it just so happens that track was one of the first we cut back in scholarships. We're not going to give scholarships in track anymore. I'm a little bit afraid some of the other minor sports will have to suffer, when you think in terms of cut-backs in scholarships. It's not like we don't want to have a full, well-rounded varsity sports program. Actually, you've got to think about your revenue and what you can afford to spend and in some cases, what your other sports bring in. That's why we can't afford a full program.

INTERVIEWER: What is the breakdown in scholarships allotted to the various sports?

VAUGHT: The number of scholarships we can give is set by the NCAA. At this time, we're giving 30 in football. Basketball is six, maybe nine. Golf and tennis — three each. Baseball is allowed a total of nine, which can be broken up into full financial scholarships, halves or even thirds.

Whereas, in football and basketball, you have to give full scholarships or not at all.

INTERVIEWER: Is soccer an intercollegiate sport?

VAUGHT: No, it is not an intercollegiate sport. We're for it and we give them all the aid we possibly can but we're not sponsoring them as an intercollegiate sport.

INTERVIEWER: Are golf and tennis intercollegiate sports?

VAUGHT: Yes. Golf, tennis, baseball, basketball, and football are sponsored by our intercollegiate program.

INTERVIEWER: Do you foresee a cut-back in the golf and tennis programs?

VAUGHT: Yes, that's what I see. If we do have to cut back, they will probably be the first sports affected. There is a move on right now, which is being considered by the NCAA to do away with all scholarships connected with non-revenue producing sports, which would mean all sports with the exception of basketball and football. And that may come about one of these days.

INTERVIEWER: So, many schools are experiencing financial difficulties with their athletic programs?

VAUGHT: I think more schools are in trouble than not in trouble. This is a national thing.

INTERVIEWER: Do the baseball and basketball programs support themselves?

VAUGHT: No, they do not, neither one of them. Baseball probably never will.

Basketball is picking up every year and I can foresee a time when they will support themselves.

INTERVIEWER: Coach Vaught, how does the future of Ole Miss athletics look to you as athletic director? Could you comment specifically on football?

VAUGHT: Well, I'm very optimistic about our overall program here. As I said earlier, I think Coach Cooper did a fine job last year. He did a real good job in keeping our team competing every game. There were times when we could have completely blown up, but I thought we had a real good team effort in every game we played. I saw some improvement with every game. At the end of the year, we were much better than when we began. Had we not had the injuries, I think we could have won three, possibly four games that we didn't win. We were in most games through the first half, falling apart in the second half. I attribute this to the lack of depth on our squad. But, I believe we are looking up here. I am very optimistic. We have a fine staff. Coach Cooper is a real fine organizer. I believe we're going to come back and come back strong.

INTERVIEWER: What about the other intercollegiate sports at Ole Miss?

VAUGHT: Of course, right now we are only in five intercollegiate sports — basketball, baseball, golf, tennis, and football. Now our basketball team is competing better than I've ever seen them compete. We lack some height. But, I'm real proud of the way they are playing and competing. They are going to win some big ball games before the season is over. Golf and tennis — things are looking up for those sports also. We got two outstanding tennis players last year who should contribute a great deal to the program.

1975 Award For Sportsmanship

Nothing can empty a stadium quicker than a losing season. Ole Miss students are either unaware of this or their enthusiasm for bourbon, brouhaha and balderdash is quite exceptional. This year's sportsmanship award goes to the Rebel Fan whose loyalty to the spirit of good sport is unflagging.

When You Flip The Switch You Expect Electricity To Be There...

Electricity—unlike many products—cannot be stored, must be produced, transmitted and used the instant you need it.

To meet the electricity needs of the people of Western Mississippi, in homes, on farms, on jobs and in their businesses, MP&L has to plan ahead. Electric generating stations cannot be built in a few months, or even in one or two years. It takes approximately five years to build the conventional fossil-fueled station, and about twice that long for a nuclear plant—like the Grand Gulf Nuclear Station underway near Port Gibson.

Therefore, to assure reliable service...at the flip of a switch...in the years ahead, MP&L must plan and build facilities today. We can't wait until tomorrow...hoping conditions then might be more favorable, prices for material less, and interest on borrowed capital lower...to start projects which need to get underway now. If we did, you might flip the switch one day in the future...and nothing would happen!

To keep you from facing that possibility, MP&L, for example, in 1974, completed the 750,000 kilowatt Gerald Andrus Steam Electric Station at Greenville. Construction is underway on the $1.2-billion Grand Gulf Nuclear Station near Port Gibson, with the first unit scheduled for completion in 1979, and the second unit in 1981. Total capability of the units will be 2,500,000 kilowatts. While MP&L will build, maintain and operate this plant, the facility will be owned and financed by Middle South Energy, Inc., a generating subsidiary of Middle South Utilities, Inc.

Such long-range investment for future electric power generation takes faith, and MP&L has it in Mississippi and her people.

And remember, help conserve all forms of energy. Electricity serves you best when you use it wisely.

Rural America . . . land of many faces

New home for crowd-weary citizens

Today, all across rural America, old friends are meeting new neighbors . . . as more and more people choose the countryside as the place to make their home.

We welcome our new neighbors. We stand ready to meet their needs . . . to meet the many needs of our changing communities.

Only a few decades ago, we, and the nearly 1000 other rural electric systems in 46 states, were called upon to light the nation's countryside. Now, as the energy crisis challenges our resourcefulness, we are guided by past experience, well served by old values.

We're at work . . . for you.

After you leave this fine institution, we hope you'll become a part of another. Ours.

You probably chose Ole Miss for many reasons, but no doubt one of the most significant was its great reputation for being progressive and free-thinking. And for its commitment to the future.

That's why we hope you'll choose us to assist you when you graduate and begin to take on new responsibilities.

Because we're the same kind of institution, in the sense that we make every effort to stay progressive and innovative, too. And because we're equally dedicated to the future.

So, when the time comes, we hope you'll call us at Unifirst. We can do so much for you.
